

The Czech Republic, Saxony and Bavaria are at the forefront when coping with the changes artificial intelligence is bringing to our societies, economies and everyday lives. Research and development in Germany and the Czech Republic have already made a great step forward in shaping this movement. Governments are working on strategies, legal requirements and investments to make the transformation a success. Faced with developments in other parts of the world, we find ourselves in the need to discover and set new trends for AI-related research also in our region. The best results can only be achieved in cooperation for which this conference will provide a platform.

The Representation offices of the Free State of Saxony and the Free State of Bavaria together with the German Embassy in Prague and the Czech Technology Agency would like to invite you to an interactive dialogue on the following questions: What has been achieved in the field of artificial intelligence so far? What are the current trends and projects? Which are the challenges particular to Central Europe? And how can we cooperate even closer to manage them?

Key speakers are the Bavarian Minister for Digital Affairs, Ms. Judith Gerlach, the Saxon State Minister for Higher Education, Research and the Arts, Dr. Eva-Maria Stange, and the Czech Vice-Minister for Industry and Trade, Petr Očko. Experts from academia as well as representatives from the public and private sector are going to participate. A variety of workshops and events in between will offer opportunities for networking and professional exchange.

Be part of the debate between the Czech Republic, Saxony and Bavaria on how to set new trends in Artificial Intelligence and come to Prague on October 23rd/24th 2019! You will meet top experts in the field of AI and find new peers. You will also learn about existing best practice and funding opportunities for research and cooperation projects.

The conference will be held in English.

BarCamp-Workshops: Do you want to share and discuss a specific project or idea with other participants? On the second conference day, there will be the space to do so in four workshops. If you are interested in chairing such a workshop, please let us know and write an e-mail containing your topic, name and institution to prag@stk.bayern.de. You will then get the opportunity to present your idea to the conference audience in one minute and the participants decide in a survey which workshops are actually going to take place.
